

MUDDY MELEE

Your engine winds up, you feel the vehicle starting to slide and, just before the power must be reduced, the flag drops. Within seconds mud is flying from all directions to cover you, your passenger and your Swamp Buggy.

Swamp Buggy? What's a Swamp Buggy?

It's a monstrosity, vaguely resembling a car, built from junked autos, planes, trucks and whatever else is available. It can look like a praying mantis or a low-slung turtle, but it has one main objective: to power over, and through, the mud and ooze of the Everglades Swamp.

Down in Naples, Florida, what started out as a vehicle for hunters has now become a bi-annual event, October and February, which attracts some 8000 spectators to watch any number of contestants having fun as the culmination of the three-day "Swamp Buggy Days."

The course, a grueling "figure 8" winding through the treacherous cypress swamps, has not only waist-deep mud but also, in strategically-located places, potholes which drop some of the buggies almost out of sight. Competition is run in heats, based on power plants, type of drive, sex of driver and other classifications. To win takes strength, determination, a machine which stays together and plain old luck.

For the happy winner, there is a purse which, last year, went to $4,500. Also, there is the honor and pleasure of driving the Swamp Buggy Queen around the course in the victory lap. The final honor comes when both victor and Queen are unceremoniously lifted from their chariot and dumped into the ooze to close out the muddy melee.

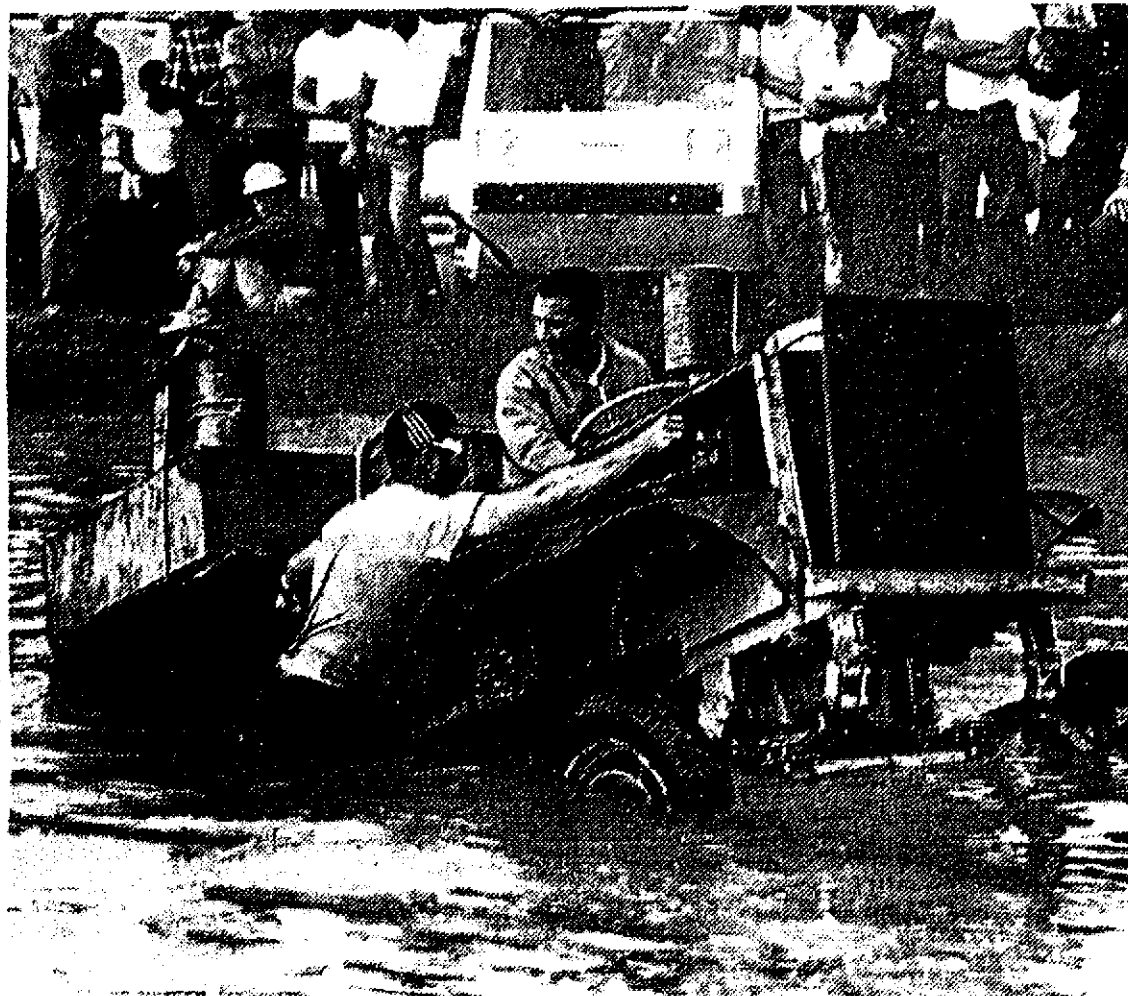

One of the participants, with crew, works over his engine before the upcoming heat.

The start of another heat sends mud and water flying into, and onto, everything nearby.

Daniel Phypers escorts Mrs. Fred Alander, Swamp Buggy Queen, through the ooze on their victory lap in his buggy Ridge Runner.

Resting in one of the potholes, a buggy crew mans the mud while the driver turns on the power.

The passenger crew mechanic checks the level of mud during their heat race.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "Good Company," ABC's updated version of "Person to Person" on Thursday night visited actress Patricia Neal and her writer husband Roald Dahl in their home in England. The result was a highly interesting half hour in which the couple described her serious illness and her struggle to return to good health and her career after an almost fatal stroke.

This is the program whose reception was described as "disappointing" by Leonard Goldberg, programming vice president of the network in the course of a short appraisal of the season. The word was a good example of executive understatement since the half-hour taped show is currently one of the lowest rated programs on the entire Nielsen list and certainly one of ABC's most likely candidates for oblivion.

Even if all of the programs in the series were as interesting as the Neal-Dahl show, the program would have a tough time surviving in its time slot. It was most recently opposite an excellent CBS movie broadcast—William Inge's "Splendor in the Grass," and Dean Martin's guest star-studded variety hour.

More elaborate and more expensive programs are suffering seriously this season from the competition of motion pictures. The networks are unmoved of their popularity, but beneath the enthusiasm is considerable concern, too. Currently all networks are busily engaged in a practice called "front loading." That means they are piling in early in the season the biggest and best feature films in those multimillion dollar packages assembled in Hollywood. Later, they will have to put on some of the turkeys—and there are those in every package, too.

Movies, however, appear to be in television to stay. The three networks now appear to have a supply that will last them through 1970. There are still a few packages around to be purchased. And then, since the success of NBC and its "World Premiere" shows—movies costing less than one million dollars each but made for initial TV broadcast—the other two networks are getting involved in similar deals for "minimovies" with studios.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17

The Guernsey PTA will meet Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. The program will be of particular interest to the men, so both parents and other interested persons are urged to be present.

The Hope Musical Parents Association will have their regular meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m.

The DeAnn Lilac Garden Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 2 p.m., in the home of Mrs. C. R. Samuel with Mrs. W. H. Burke, co-hostess. Mrs. J. C. Burke will bring the program, "Landscaping." The theme of the meeting will be "Cover Me Up," and each member is to bring an arrangement called "Fall."

The first meeting of the Beryl Henry Elementary school PTA will meet Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. The program will be a panel discussion on, "Home-work, Quality, Quantity." Refreshments will be served. An executive meeting will be at 7 p.m.

TO CELEBRATE FIRST BIRTHDAY

Kimberly Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Fricks, will celebrate her first birthday October 15. Her great grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Craig, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fricks and Mrs. A. H. Craig Jr., will help her celebrate at her home in Bodcaw.

NEW YORK (NEA) — It is to be assumed that The FBI can survive William Reynolds.

The newest member of the cast of the successful ABC-TV series is a handsome, well-mannered young man who, through no fault of his, has had several flop television series.

His first was a Jack Webb-produced series called Pete Kelly's Blues. It lasted 13 weeks. The Islanders lasted 24 weeks. Ever improving, Bill's next series, The Gallant Men, lasted 26 weeks.

All of them together don't really make a run," he says with a wry smile. "If The FBI folds after this season, there won't be a studio in town I can walk into."

He's joking, but the joke covers up a sensitive area.

William Reynolds

Prior to The FBI, he went two years without acting. "Sometimes the economics of the business catch up with you," he said.

Reynolds' answer was to go back to school. He had just passed his exams as a real estate lawyer and was set for an enforced career change when The FBI happened.

"Was it discouraging? Yeah, very. I like to work. I've never done anything other than acting. I could have gone to Europe to get some jobs. I guess, but there is a fairly limited market for my type. As long as I was a juvenile, I could get work. But my chances of being hired as a character performer are few. I figured it would probably be another four to five years before I would be usable so I switched to real estate as a means of earning money you need so you can pursue acting. The casting people in Hollywood seem to have gone from the scratchers to Englishman and bypassed a whole generation of studio-trained actors like me."

Once Larry Dobkin's face was all over the television screen, in good supporting roles, ranging from broad

Covers Five Generations

SHOWBEAT

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—You've heard of the two versions of movies—the modest American and the immodest European. Now meet a new twist to the two versions—the regular for theatrical release and the sweetly innocent for eventual sale to television.

As far as I know, "For Singles Only" is the first picture to shoot a special scene just for the home screens. This Sam Katzman epic, for Columbia release, is an exploitation film centering around the happy-go-lucky activities in an apartment building whose tenants must all be unmarried. There are many of these in southern California.

One of the big scenes in the movie, as originally written and shot for the theaters, has Lana Wood getting raped by three men. But in the television version, there is no rape. She simply goes home, as good as new.

Another scene may or may not make it to the living rooms. This is a strip scene, a modernized game of strip poker. In this one, all the swingers gather to play the game. One person calls out a noun and the next player must supply an opposite within a given time or remove an article of clothing.

A couple of the film's principals wanted no part of it. Mark Richman was supposed to make the scene in underwear but talked his way into slacks. Lana Wood wouldn't do it. "I'm too smart, too modest and too chicken," she said.

But some of the others thought it would be fun. Charles Robinson looked all over town for some jazzy underwear which would enhance the pictorial quality of the episode. And some of the girl extras were delighted with the chance to show their best features.

Robinson, a good bet for eventual stardom, is a handsome young actor who played the enigmatic "The Sand Pebbles."

"This is quite a change from 'The Sand Pebbles,'" he said. "That took 34 weeks to shoot. This is three weeks. On that one we did the scenes over and over and over. On this one we do it once and print it."

Speed is the essence of a Sam Katzman film. A joke in the company is that if they are running behind schedule, the next night somebody tears up a few pages of the script so they can catch up. They rehearse fast, set up the lights fast, shoot fast.

But good actors love to do Katzman's pictures because they get off beat roles and are generally assured good exposure among teen-agers, and teen-agers constitute 75 per cent or so of moviegoers.

John Saxon, Mary Ann Mobley, Milton Berle, Marty Ingels, Mark Richman, Charles Robinson, Chris Noel and Lana Wood are among those present in the "For comedy to sinister gangsters. Then his face disappeared, and his name—now a dignified Lawrence Dobkin—began appearing as a director.

He says he made the switch because, "my brain was turning to oatmeal." Except for an appearance in the Felony Squad episode he was directing, Dobkin has not acted in over three years.

But now he has been lured back by a good role in what promises to be a viewing high spot, the Oct. 17 presentation on CBS Playhouse of Loring Mandel's "Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night." Melvyn Douglas and Shirley Booth are the stars of the drama of a man in a home for the aged.

Mandel is a good and careful writer and George Schaefer, who produced and directed it, is a good and careful director. The story says we must have courage to take disappointments, especially as the years pass and disappointments grow. His message is that man can't ever stop fighting back.

A volatile, intelligent man, Dobkin says when he acts his only problems result when the director he is working for is uncertain. "I just sit very quietly and refrain from comment when that happens. Because he also has the temperament of an actor. I find myself being very patient when I direct."

Supermarket May Disappear
NEW YORK (AP) — Supermarket experts say the supermarket may not exist at all in another 20 years.

The observation was made Wednesday at an international conference of supermarket executives.

Michael J. O'Connor, executive director of the Supermarket Institute, said some "far-out thinkers" visualize TV sets in each home kitchen with keyboards for the housewife to punch out her order.

Millionaires Pay, Can Afford Too

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It takes a lot of capital gains and dividends to make a millionaire, the Internal Revenue Service can attest.

And although millionaires do get tax breaks, IRS records show they still pay a goodly share of their incomes in taxes.

The service said the average tax paid by 624 persons who made $1 million or more during 1965—the latest data available—was $966,838. Twenty-two other million-dollar earners paid no tax, however.

Although IRS is barred by law from revealing details of a person's tax return, officials said the millionaire who pays no tax can usually trace his good fortune to foreign tax credits and charitable or other large deductions.

Data compiled by IRS doesn't reflect the true picture of the millionaire, however, since interest from tax-free municipal bonds need not be reported as income.

IRS figures are also based on adjusted gross income—which doesn't show what depletion allowances may have been claimed for gas, oil or mineral holdings.

Most of the income of the 646 million-dollar earners in 1965 came from sales of capital assets—$845.1 million of the $1.4 billion they reported in total adjusted gross income. The adjusted gross averaged nearly $2.2 million each.

The second leading source was dividends at $483.3 million. Long-term capital gains are taxed at a maximum 25 per cent rate, thus giving not only millionaires but also other taxpayers a break if they hold their capital assets—such as stocks and bonds—more than six months.

Singles Only cast.
Saxon doesn't think there is a stigma attached to a Katzman film as some feel. A frequent quote around town is: "Oh, he's doing a Katzman movie." Things must be tough for him," Saxon disagrees.

"I could be working on many other things right now," he says. "But I wanted to do this. It's modern, and gives me a chance to go back to modern, romantic parts, which is how I started. Lately, I've done mostly character roles, and I wanted to show that I could still do romantic leads."

The set is a pleasant place, particularly for girl-watchers. Besides the principals, there are some exciting extras and bit players.

This picture shows five generations, according to Horace Fullerton of Highway 67 East. Three year old Ren'ee Machael Huggins is the youngest in a family that boasts a life span of 91 years. She is shown between her great grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Fullerton of Prescott and her great grandmother, Mrs. Harvey (Sophia) Taylor of Chandler. Standing are her grandmother, Mrs. Virgil (Myrtle) McClanahan of Higley, Ariz., and her mother, Mrs. William (Patricia) Huggins of Chandler, Ariz.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

Mail Miss: Post Office Department not unwilling to consider teens, including teen girls, for part-time work. One such worker recently made national wire service by designing miniskirt to match the postal-patched "Ike" jacket. Her long black surfer locks completed the picture. Through sleet and storm the junk mail must get through. Three huzzas for the postal service's recognition of the youth ache for a chance at part-time work.

Hand-knit Boom: Predicted great increase ahead. Has happened. One great feature is the popularity of gargantuan-sized needles (and yarn). Enables toiling teens to complete a garment in a matter of hours, not days. The wild acceptance of the idea caught yarn people by total surprise. Their production lag is unfortunate. The teens are snapping up all of the pipe cleaner-sized yarn they can find; converted to bulky sweaters, tops, miniskirts and personalized interesting accessories.

STP-Merchandising Backlash: Executives of STP, the well-advertised oil additive, must be bringing their filters as they ponder the adoption of their trade name by the hippies and the drug pushers. Stickers, buttons and sweat shirts all extol STP. The viewers can only guess if the exhibitor is interested in less clunk and more mileage on a real trip—or a long trip in the turned-on tank.

Beatles' Confusion Makes for Bad Image: Blow-your-mind music dying rapid death as public opinion mobilizes against its lack of morality. Beatles have been among leading exponents of psychedelic sell. A pity, great musicians turned Pied Pipers of dull, degenerate antics. Now they try to bail out by embracing Hindu mystic, Maharishi Manish Yogi, their own "discovery." Their efforts to push hallucinogenics for the young and willing has backfired. The Far Eastern kick experts say it's a desperate attempt to save face and regain a share of the leadership. The mystical aspects of their new found guru seems to be mentioned in the legitimacy of the fakir mess. One London report has him as an unsuccessful rug peddler with a burning desire to eat thrice a day. We wonder if it's yogurt. We also wonder how successful and wealthy the Beatles would have become had they started out in their careers with the passive Indian philosophy. Maybe their meditations would have convinced them that passive resistance to work is, after all, much more spiritual than filthy lucre.

Hairsprays Go Wild: Single most popular item in aerosol field. Close to 475 million units sold in 1966. Increase this year. Teen girls account for about 30 per cent.

Nail Polish To Get Tough: The cosmetic industry projects that within two years about every polish will contain two hardening agents—one to retard splitting, the other to harden polish itself.

Five-Fingered Discounters: Hard to believe, but every 30 seconds someone is arrested for shoplifting. Imagine the ones that get away. Sad sack fact—some retail stores in large cities find 60 per cent of offenders are under 21. Other big groups of sticky fingers? Good old mom, or the housewife, at least. Dilemma? You bet! What right has mom got to condemn a child for what she does herself? Seems to be a result of, for one thing, wide-open please look-and-touch displays. Teen counterespies are a prevention possibility. Direct understanding of the how and why and where thefts are being attempted. Some purveyors of tires, used cars, mail order items should take note. Their hoax-em approach does not convince the young that the world is honest.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

TWO SIDES TO EVERY QUESTION

Dear Helen: You advise against "shotgun marriages," and say that in most cases the baby is better off adopted.

Let me tell you another side of the story. This boy and girl were just graduated from high school and both sets of parents opposed the marriage. The girl was the only one who really wanted it, the boy being somewhat on the fence. He loved the girl, but didn't want to quit college and support a family.

Well, the girl went away and had the baby adopted, but she didn't do it quietly! She was bitter and told everyone who would listen what a rat the boy was.

Now the boy feels that he lives under a cloud of shame and blames his folks for not encouraging him to marry the girl. His parents tell guilt about their unknown grandchild. I imagine there is much similar feeling on the girl's side of the family.

I'm wondering if there's a "right" decision in these cases, where the boy isn't ready to marry. The girl almost always seems ready and willing! What experiences have your readers had? —PERPLEXED

Dear Helen: There's no pat answer to any human problem. It depends on the individuals. I've known "have-to" marriages that turned out beautifully — and "want-to" marriages which soured in six months. I've also seen an adopted child go bad, while the unmarried mother down the block happily raises a fine, well-adjusted youngster.

In this particular case, however, I'd say the decision not to marry prevented more unhappiness than it caused. These two would have been headed for divorce the moment they signed the license; their child will surely have a better chance with mature, stable parents than with a girl obsessed by bitterness. —H

Dear Helen: I had to answer "Ugly Duckling." The same situation existed in my family, except I was, unfortunately, the prettier. When you love your sister, this hurts. Each compliment I got made it that much harder for her to turn into a swan (which she eventually did). I was embarrassed and insulted when people would say unthinkingly, "You're the prettiest." They don't realize how they hurt.

To "Ugly Duckling" I say, let the insults roll off your back, and don't hold them against your sister. She's hurting too — ONE WHO KNOWS

Dear Helen: As the mother of two adorable daughters, I can sympathize with "Ugly Duckling." Our four-year-old attracts attention with her plexie face and bouncy ways. Our six-year-old is quieter and sometimes goes unnoticed.

One afternoon while shopping I met a woman I wish I hadn't. She insisted my little one was the most beautiful child she had ever seen, raving on and on, as if I had only one daughter. That evening I found our older child crying as she looked into a hand mirror. It might have been the beginning of a complex, except that we talked it out and showed her each person has her own special beauty—both outside and inside.

I hope "Duckling's" letter reaches these insensitive people who single out one sister over another for praise. It's so very important to say something nice about EACH child—or say nothing at all! They don't realize the damage they do! —CONCERNED MOTHER

Dear Helen: My sister is 18, slim and beautiful. I'm 15, pudgy and pimply. Boy, do I get ribbed! But when I feel depressed at people's remarks, I just say, "Well, that's my problem to worry about, and if they don't like me for what I am, forget 'em. And I do. Then I work on having the best personality I can get. And I'm getting more popular all the time. —C.L.

Doesn't Think Much of Other Kennedys

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina said Wednesday that John F. Kennedy was a "great president," but that his regard didn't extend to Kennedy's brother, Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y.

"I don't consider Bob Kennedy and Jack Kennedy the same kind of people," Sanford said. "They're different in personality, different in temperament."

Sanford, who was prevented by his state's constitution from running for a second four-year term in 1964, was identified politically with the Kennedys during the early 1960s. He was the prime southern supporter of John F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Robert Kennedy has been mentioned as a possible opponent for President Johnson in next year's Democratic convention, and even more frequently as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

"Bob Kennedy is too impetuous," Sanford said. "I don't see him as a candidate for president, and he certainly isn't my candidate for 1972."

Sanford said he thought the Democrats should nominate a "sitting governor" in 1972, and that his personal choice was Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey.

770 Women in

Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University, an all-male school for almost a century, is becoming more coeducational by the year.

This year's record enrollment is 12,029, which includes a record 770 women. The fair sex was represented by 578 enrollees last year.

The dating situation for those thousands of campus males is not that much improved, however, since 484 of the 1967 women students are married.

Election Ended

in Deadlock

ATASCADERO, Calif. (AP) — The election to name a new member of the San Luis Obispo County Economic Opportunities Commission ended in a deadlock—1-1.

Philip Bayles and Wanda Widner, competing for the job, were apparently the only two voters to show up Tuesday.

A commission spokesman blamed apathy among the rural area's poor for the turnout.

FAITH OPENS NEW HORIZONS WHEN YOU OPEN THE CHURCH DOOR

STEPS TO GOD

The Bible says for us not to neglect church attendance, Heb. 10:25. Here we find a family on the way up the steps to an hour of worship. The church is the strongest dyke against corruption and the evil forces that destroy human life. The church is the foe of the penitentiary. Jesus said, "I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it," Matt. 16:18.

The church is not perfect... nothing human ever is. Even the Apostles chosen by Jesus had a Judas, but see the success He made of the other eleven. Christ loved the church enough to die for it and that makes it mighty important. Whether people worship in a tent, tabernacle or cathedral, they mean to be on God's side. Church-going people are people of Faith. Do you go to church?

You In The Church...
The Church In You
Form a combination for good. We should attend church regularly. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the CHURCH. Be faithful Be a Churchman!

WIN AT BRIDGE

No Monopoly Held on Errors

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Certain members of the bridge press seem to delight in pillorying American players in international and other important matches. The stronger the screams of anguish by these writers, the less likely that the particular writer ever played internationally or ever will play internationally. We have played in such matches before and hope to do so again and know that when we do we will make mistakes ranging from errors in judgment to downright stupidities.

The bidding in the box shows the American team getting to a ridiculous slam. We blame North for this but have no intention of mentioning which one of the six players actually made this bad bid. We would never make the bid sitting at home and looking at the South hand. We probably would not have made it at the table, but we have done worse in the past and will probably commit other crimes in the future.

Anyway, North did bid four clubs after his partner had signed off at three no-trump and compounded his error by going on to six after his partner merely bid game.

South won the spade opening with dummy's ace, entered his hand with a trump and led his singleton diamond. West played low but eventually South had to lose three tricks.

At the other table the Italians stopped at three no-trump.

A spade was opened and Benito Garozzo, the declarer, settled for his nine top tricks. Because West held the ace of diamonds he could have made a 10th but he was not going to risk his good contract.

A—Bid three diamonds. You don't really expect your partner to be able to go further but if he can't make three diamonds the opponents can make several spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to three no-trump. What do you do now?

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH Vigorous Brushing Will Help Whiten Teeth

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A reader from Niagara Falls, N.Y., writes: I'm having trouble with my gums. There's quite a lot of pus and soreness. I can't afford to go to a dentist right now. Is there something I can use at home, a mouthwash or special toothpaste, that will help until I can see a dentist?

ANSWER—Although something more may be involved, your symptoms suggest periodontal disease. This cannot be successfully treated with home remedies which are primarily for preventive, not remedial, treatment of periodontal disease.

It's sad that you don't have money for proper dental care now. If you wait it might be too late to help and your teeth may become loose and have to be extracted. More than half the total number of teeth extracted in the United States are because of periodontal disease.

Have you investigated the possibility of using benefits provided in the Medicaid law? Your state and others have enacted laws providing funds which, together with federal funds, give medical and dental help for all residents whose family income is less than the prescribed amount determined by their state law.

See your local Medicaid office for further information.

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: Do toothpastes which claim to whiten teeth really do so? Do these toothpastes harm teeth? ANSWER—Dentists have always maintained that toothpastes powerful enough to

Prescott Wins Over Gurdon 6-0

The Prescott Curley Wolves won their 5th game of the season last night by defeating Gurdon 6-0. This makes the Wolves 5-1 on the year.

Prescott scored in the first quarter. In a 4th and goal situation from the one Bill Greer ploughed over and that was all of the scoring although Gurdon really gave the Wolves a fit from then on with an almost unstoppable aerial attack.

There were heavy penalties on both sides. However, Gurdon's air raid was so potent that many figure a couple of untimely fumbles was the only thing that kept them from scoring.

Prescott takes on Nashville next week and this should be a bruiser. Last night Nashville rolled over DeQueen 41-0.

Yarbrough Trying to Get Another Car

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—If Lee Roy Yarbrough can obtain another car, he'll try to get into Sunday's National 500-mile stock car field. But for the moment, he feels he's lucky to be alive.

Yarbrough, the defending champion in this fall classic, demolished his front line Ford Thursday in a spectacular accident during a practice run. Today he was looking for another car.

"They won't let me start another car in the front row," said the 26-year-old solidly built driver. "But I could qualify for a spot further back in the field. After all, I started 17th last year and won the race."

Yarbrough, a member of the factory Ford team for this $100,000 race, was in a group of cars making practice runs Thursday. The others in a tightly-knit bunch of cars were Darel Dieringer, Richard Petty and Cale Yarborough.

Suddenly, going out of the Charlotte Motor Speedway's second turn, the fire extinguisher in Yarbrough's car exploded, sending chemical fumes through the machines.

Temporarily blinded, Yarbrough lost control and the car rammed a guard rail.

Yarbrough, who starts in Sunday's front row, was trailing closely but managed to thread his way through the wreckage, as did Dieringer and Petty, without damage.

Yarbrough had won the other front row spot in qualifying Wednesday. His elimination from the field caused other qualifiers to move up one position in the starting field. A. J. Foyt, three-time Indianapolis champ, who had been the No. 3 qualifier, moved into the front row.

Bobcats Lose to Fairview

By RALPH ROUTON
Star Sports Writer

Unable to equal two fourth quarter touchdowns by Fairview, the Hope Bobcats suffered their fourth straight conference loss last night, falling 27-19 before the Fairview Cardinals in Camden.

The Bobcats gave their usual top effort in losing, but the Redbirds were able to move the ball on the ground better than any previous opponent the Bobcats have faced. Still, the Hope defensive secondary turned in one of its finest performances, allowing only two completions, one for a touchdown.

Fairview completely dominated play in the first half, as the Bobcats could only amount one first down, losing three fumbles inside the Hope 30-yard line. The Cardinals were only able to cash in on one of their many opportunities, but their brand of ball control and field position kept the Cats in the Hope throughout the first two periods.

Continuing to knock on the Bobcats' door, the Cardinals finally came with that eventual TD, on a 4th and 15 situation at the Hope 23. On a double reverse pass play, quarterback Bubba Wrentz fired a strike to end Dicky Bush for the first blood. Harris' kick was wide, and Fairview led 6-0 with 0:34 left in the first stanza.

For the rest of the half the Bobcat defense put down serious challenges by the Fairview offense, and each team seemingly appeared ready to explode by halftime, with the score remaining 6-0 on the good side of Fairview.

The third period brought forth a pair of TD's for each team, with Buzz Andrews and Larry Massanelli scoring the Hope touchdowns. The Cardinals started the quarter ahead 6-0, though, so they were up 20-13 going into the final twelve minutes of play. Fairview's scores came on a 19-yard run by Jimmy Harris and on a 12-yard blast by slotback Steven Johnson, and the crucial extra points sent Hope into a seven-point deficit.

The Cats pulled within a point on Massanelli's second six-pointer early in the final period, but the PAT was blocked and Hope still trailed 20-19. The final Cardinal score came late in the game on a 6-yard dash by Eddie Folse. Harris booted the PAT, and the Fairview Cardinals had their sixth victory against one defeat.

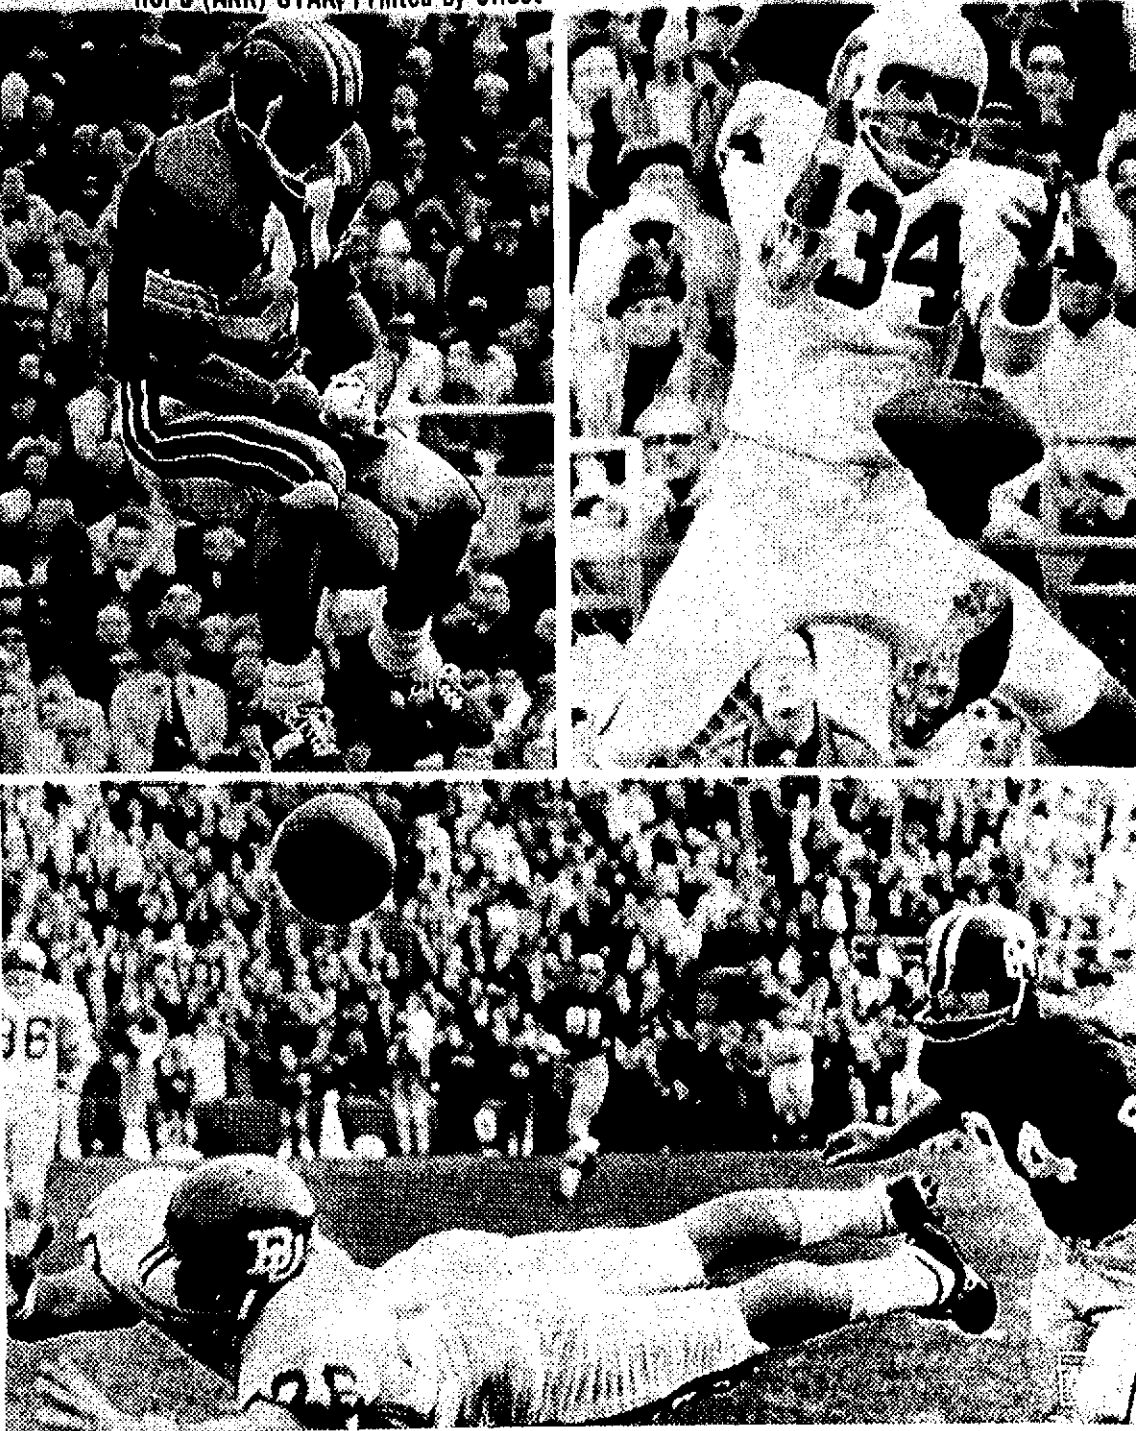

The Bobcat offensive and defensive linemen gave all they had, giving the passer more protection than ever this week, and rushing the opposing quarterback very well. Andrews, who had a 72-yard run from scrimmage, led Hope's rushers with 94 yards on 8 carries. Folse led all rushers for Fairview with 132 yards on 18 trips.

CATCHING A FOOTBALL is not always an easy process especially if your hands don't co-operate. Ohio State end Bill Anders (upper left) assumes a hatching position high off the ground, as the ball drops between his legs. Purdue halfback Leroy Keyes (83, upper right), the intended receiver, and Northwestern defender Dennis Coyne both allowed ball to slither through their fingers. Neil Smith of Boston University (26, bottom photo) leaped in vain attempt to catch pass. Harvard defender Bob Hoffman had no better luck.

Playoff to Be Eligible for PGA

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — The final round of the tournament to determine which golfers are eligible to play in the lucrative PGA tour next year opened today with South Africa's Bobby Cole holding a one-stroke lead.

Cole, who has led or shared the lead in five of the six rounds of play, slipped to a two-over par 74 Thursday for a 423 total, still one better than Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, Calif.

Familiar Start in Hockey Play

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jean Beliveau's 400th career goal has gotten the new-look National Hockey League off to a familiar start.

Beliveau, Montreal's rangy center and longtime captain, became the third player in NHL history to reach the 400-goal plateau when he scored the winner over the Canadiens' 2-1 victory over the new Penguins at Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

It was one of five games which kicked off the heralded NHL's 1967-68 season. Elsewhere, Jean Ratelle scored two goals and assisted on two others as New York rapped Chicago 6-3, Detroit rallied for a 4-1 tie against Boston, among the new teams, St. Louis and Minnesota battled to a 2-2 tie and California ripped Philadelphia 5-1.

The first interdivision game matching new clubs with old ones was a moral victory for the newcomers. The Penguins, members of the expansion division, played the Canadiens on almost even terms.

Beliveau, who joined Detroit's great Gordie Howe and Montreal's immortal Maurice Richard in the NHL's 400-club, scored his historic goal in the second period, giving the Canadiens a 2-0 edge.

Gilles Tremblay, out killing a penalty, broke away and scored Montreal's first goal in the opening period.

Warmack 'Cerebrates' Oklahoma Victories With Lead Example

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer

NORMAN, Okla. — (NEA) — Football is a game of elephantine linemen, rib-crunching tackles, violence and dramatic background music on televised game films.

At the University of Oklahoma, famed for football tradition, the star quarterback is described by coach Chuck Fairbanks in this flowing paeon: "He's as healthy-looking as my 13-year-old daughter."

He adds, however, that Bob Warmack is the best Sooner quarterback in a decade and possibly the school's next All-American — which means Warmack's delicate feet may follow in the large footsteps of Carl McAdams. Joe Don Looney, Jerry Tubbs, Tommy McDonald, Billy Vessels, Leon Heath and a score more.

Warmack is a six-foot junior who weighs, according to the Sooner brochure, 170 pounds. Fairbanks does not dispute such authoritative. "With all his gear on," he said, "Bob might reach that figure."

"But he's put together well. He's tough and quick, a good scrambler. He gets away from people. When he doesn't, he always finds a soft spot to jump in. He never gets hit flush."

Last summer, Warmack went on an eating spree to gain weight.

"Randy Meacham (a teammate) and I both wanted to get fatter," said Warmack. "He gained 25 pounds and now looks like the 'after' picture in those musician ads. I ate like a pig and gained almost nothing. I still look like the 'before' picture."

Warmack was little-regarded when 1966 spring practice began. He was on the fifth and last team. By season's opener, he was No. 2 quarterback. And after the first series of downs he was inserted into the lineup, passed for yardage and ran a 40-yard keeper to lead a Sooner scoring march.

To get him out of the lineup now they have to use pliers.

As a sophomore, Bob broke several school records, including most yards rushing and passing in one game (280 yards—220 passing, 60 rushing) and most completed passes in one game (12). Both came in Oklahoma's 18-9 upset over Texas. It was the Sooners' first win over Texas in nine years.

He's the best kind of team leader," said Fairbanks. "He's the kind that leads by example."

In that Texas game for instance, he made the play which turned the game around. It was the first play of the second half. We led 9-3. We were deep in our territory. A 45-m.p.h. wind was whipping into our faces. Bob saw their defensive safety was out of position and tossed a 37-yard pass to our split end. We went on to score. Texas never recuperated."

The Sooners started impressively this season, beating Washington State and Maryland by a combined score of 56-0. Warmack completed 70 per cent of his passes and averaged 4.2 yards per carry rushing.

"Our offense is so much better this year than last," said Warmack. "The Sooners were 4-3 in the Big 8 and 6-4 overall last season."

"The triple action formation was new last season. We're experienced with it now. And I'm a stronger quarterback, though not much heavier."

Harold Keith, Oklahoma publicist, said: "In those two games, Bob moved us on scoring drives of 81, 80 and 45 yards against Washington State and 79, 99, 60, 75 and 85 yards against Maryland."

"This is the consistency every coach dreams about. It means your quarterback is handling the ball flawlessly and celebrating correctly."

"Celebrating," whatever it means, must be good, especially for a guy as ruddy-looking as a girl.

CBS 'Fire' Power

The firing of Perry Smith, the Yankees' vice-president for televising of games (they have a veep to suit every function and occasion) was just another step in the eventual take over of the whole baseball operation, top to bottom, by CBS personnel. Look for more to go. . . .

Plug for bachelorhood: there were only three single men on the Boston Red Sox this season—Jim Lonborg, George Scott and Tony Conigliaro. Add Carl Yastrzemski (blissfully married), and you've got the guts of the Red Sox. . . .

Memory bit: back in 1955, Stan Musial hit a 12th inning home run to win the All-Star Game for the National League in Milwaukee. He flew into New York with his Cardinal roomie, Red Schoendienst. Ty Cobb was in the Big City and called Fred Corcoran, Musial's agent, saying, "I would like to meet that boy."

They arranged breakfast. Cobb looked at Stan and said, "You hit a curve ball yesterday." Musial nodded. Cobb turned to Corcoran and said, "You know, this is the greatest all around ballplayer I've ever seen?" Fred spun and shook Schoendienst, who'd dozed off. . . . "You hear what he said?" asked Corcoran. . . . "I heard him saying something about the greatest player," said Red drowsily, "but I knew he wasn't talking about me."

After Elston Howard laid down a bunt in the second game of the World Series, the 38-year-old catcher noted, "That's the first time in Series history (more than 50 games) I bunted. You got to do a lot of things when you get old."

Prominent around Series gatherings was Judge Bob Cannon of Milwaukee, who used to be the representative of the Players Association. The judge is now plugging for a major league team in Milwaukee, preferably through expansion, and vitally interested in Charley Finley's plans to move the Kansas City Athletics. Not because they'd move to Milwaukee but because it would pave the route for adding two more teams to the American League. Kansas City would get one. "I hope," said Judge Cannon, "he goes to Oakland, with its new stadium. Then we'd have a better chance to get the other franchise, over Seattle."

Sometimes you need an interpreter to understand football coaches. Don Shula of Baltimore, in a game post mortem, said, "Bobby Boyd felt ouchy, but we had a lot of guys who sucked it up." Translation: Boyd was playing with a slight injury; the Colts performed staunchly in the clutch. . . .

Buzz around pro football veterans is why Lou Groza keeps playing and leaves himself open to booing in Cleveland, his home base for 21 seasons. They can't believe the greatest kicker in history needs the dough.

Recognize the names Stydhar and Kimbrough? Dave Stydhar is a tackle (just like dad, Jumbo Jim, was) playing a key role on the offensive line of unbeaten Purdue. John Kimbrough's also a tackle, on defense for SMU (though his pop, the original Jarring John, played fullback at Texas A&M). . . . The fathers are both Hall-of-Famers. . . .

Between you'n'me, Don Klosterman's deal to get quarterback Pete Beathard from Kansas City for Ernie Ladd, Jackie Lee and a No. 1 draft choice was initiated by a casual talk with Chief coach Hank Stram. The Houston general manager had originally signed Pete for the Chiefs when he was their talent scout. The price might sound stiff, but on the other hand Pete's salary isn't as big as Ladd's — in fact, he doesn't make more than Lee. . . .

Attaway's Outdoor Notebook

NEW YORK (NEA) — It's a while before the nation's waterfowl hunters can indulge in that special masochism of getting up before dawn, hurrying into layers of clothing and then sitting half-frozen in a duck blind to wait for the first flight to come whistling in over the treetops.

But, though the season doesn't open until late fall or early winter, now is a time of particular anguish.

The "Dog Days" of August were the point of no return for the annual duck crop. Rainfall, or the lack of it, will mean the difference between a good crop—and good hunting—or a slim population and poor hunting.

The duck families need enough water in which to keep their downy young until they're ready to fly. Biologists call this "brood water."

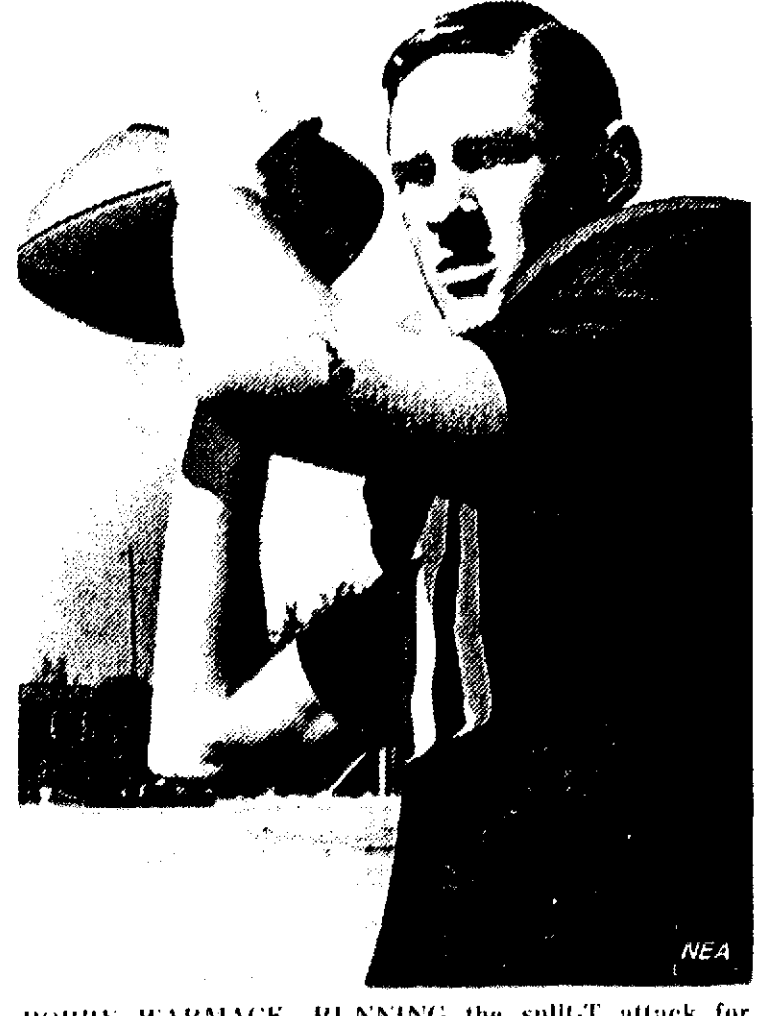

Serious drought in the Canadian provinces — where four out of five ducks shot in North America are born and raised — and increased hunting pressure during the past decade have made raising a family a hazardous and sometimes thing for Mr. and Mrs. Webfoot.

In early August, the United States Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife issued a gloomy forecast. Lack of rain in Saskatchewan and Manitoba was the basis for their pessimism.

However, Ducks Unlimited, the organization of sportsmen dedicated to increasing the duck crop for the general good, says it ain't necessarily so.

"We're in good shape, there's no doubt about it," says Ken McCreary, executive secretary. "The fall flights this year will be as good, and probably better, than they were last year. There has been some light rainfall in Saskatchewan and Manitoba and there is still enough brood water to carry the ducks until they're on the wing."

And the man on the scene, Angus Gavin general manager of Ducks Unlimited (Canada), notes "The loss of broods due to drying up of some brood waters is not expected to have any significant effect on the flights going south this fall. This certainly doesn't look like a bad year from here."

BOBBY WARMACK, RUNNING the split-T attack for Oklahoma, has given early foot to the Sooner offense—not to mention a facile passing threat.

WHILE HIS DAD can be seen regularly on the Late, Late Show, Mike Reagan guns boats on the early, early show as a racing driver. He's the son of the California governor, and Mike, 22, will pilot a three-engine job in the Outboard World Championships on the Colorado River at Lake Havasu City, Ariz., on Nov. 25-26.

When You Write...

Writing to Congressmen is a favorite American pastime. This being so, House Republican Richard Poff of Virginia has handed down an "advisory" to guide those who want to register their complaints or praise with the nation's lawmakers.

First of all, Rep. Poff favors a letter over a telephone call, for the reason that it constitutes a written record for future reference. So, he isn't knocking communicating with Congress by mail. Quite the contrary, he does say that:

1. Letters should be brief.
2. Comments should be confined to one subject.
3. Reasons for your position should be outlined. (Don't just say, "support H.R. 6345".)
4. Don't insult Congressmen with threats or promises.
5. Send a personal rather than a form letter.
6. Refuse to accept an unresponsive reply.

Points four and six need elaborating on. If a writer threatens a Congressman, he indicates a belief that the lawmaker can be frightened; if he makes a promise, that he can be bribed. Rep. Poff says both attitudes are offensive and self-defeating. But constructive criticism is always welcome.

He emphasizes that if you have written a personal letter giving the Congressman the reasons for your stand, you are entitled to know his position and the reasons for his stand.

Congressmen get plenty of mail when an issue strikes an emotional chord across the country. It would be interesting to know what per cent of recent letter writers demanding an end to Crime in The Streets followed the Poff guidelines. - Monroe (La.) News-Star

Rubber Bands

The Post Office, which used to be the bundles of letters with twine, is switching over to rubber bands. As is usual in bureaucracies, public or private, change is rather slow and laborious.

Allegedly in an effort to expedite things, postal officials have prepared lengthy regulations on the use of rubber bands. After explaining, for the uninitiated, exactly what rubber bands are, the memo goes on to instruct employees on how to use them: "First, pick up the bundle, apply facing slip (destination information) on the top or bottom as required; second, pick up the rubber band, place over the long dimension of bundle; and third, pick up second rubber band, place over short dimension of bundle at the center."

To make sure that everything is abundantly clear, the regulations are illustrated to show proper use of the bands. Postal officials plan to keep by, through progress reports, on just how the transition is proceeding. Perhaps rubber bands will outperform the traditional twine. Somehow, though, we can't see that this sort of thing will restore any snap to the postal service. - Wall Street Journal.

Firm Seeking Help for Losses

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) - Losses on a $1.6 million government defense contract to manufacture a 4.2 inch mortar shells has forced the United States Forgemaster Corp. here to seek help from its creditors to stay in business, plant officials said.

Edgar E. Bethell of Fort Smith, the corporation's lawyer, said the company holds "an enviable and strong position" in the field of parachute and safety hardware, and that after the mortar shell contract is completed "there should still be a cash flow sufficient" to enable the company to revive.

Will Attempt a Parascuba

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) - A Henderson State College student says he will attempt what he terms the first parascuba jump in the state Saturday at Mena, weather permitting.

Robert Byers, 22, of Hot Springs and a senior at Henderson, said he would bail out of an airplane at 3,000 feet, splash down in Lake Wilamina and swim to shore.

Red Attack Beaten Off by Marines

SAIGON (AP) - The war just below the demilitarized zone mounted furiously today as U.S. Marine Infantrymen, artillery and planes beat off an attempt by 500 North Vietnamese regulars to storm the perimeter of a Leatherneck base.

After nearly three weeks of only minor attacks, the Communists around the DMZ battered the outpost of Con Thien Friday with almost 400 artillery, rocket, mortar and recoilless rifle shells.

Early today, after another 130-round mortar barrage, the North Vietnamese attacked a Marine battalion's position south of Con Thien, using tear gas and advancing behind smoke grenades.

For the next three hours the battle raged a mile below Con Thien, with American warships overhead to light the battlefield and spray the Communist jump-off points with fiery Caillong gun rounds.

It is rare for the North Vietnamese to use tear gas or smoke grenades, and this was evidently a well equipped unit. At dawn it broke off the fight and slipped off to the southwest, with the Marines trying to get in ahead of it.

Initial battle reports did not give enemy losses. The U.S. Command said 21 Marines were killed, and 20 wounded were taken out by helicopter, with others who were lightly wounded remaining at their posts.

In the Red shellfire Friday against Con Thien, three Marines were killed and 15 were wounded.

The Red attack emphasized that the recent slackening in Communist pressure on the Marines was only a temporary respite and not an end to the threat to the forward posts guarding the most direct route to South Vietnam's five northern provinces.

The renewal of fighting bore out a warning from the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland. He said last week that although the North Vietnamese had suffered severe losses in the furious artillery duels and air attacks across the DMZ in September, he expected them to build up their forces and move again.

Governmental Education Function Told

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - John W. Gardner, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said Thursday education has moved to a commanding position in national life and explained the government's growing educational functions.

Gardner, a speaker here at the one-day Governor's Conference on Education, called education "about as versatile an instrument of social change as can be found."

Education solves problems involving juvenile delinquency, unemployment, public health, rural development or racial discrimination, Gardner said.

Earlier in the day, former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina told the 800 educators at the conference that Arkansas' future depended on the kind of investment its people are willing to make in education.

Gardner said a task force he set up to study a better education time-table produced four principal recommendations that "will make federal aid to education more effective."

The recommendations included longer program authorizations, special provision and funds for planning and evaluation on a continuing basis, lead time of at least one year on any Congressional action to initiate, terminate, extend or revise a program of federal aid, and Congressional findings at least one year in advance of the effective date of a federal program.

In a news conference prior to his speech, Gardner said more control of federal programs should be placed in hands of the states "absolutely without question."

Southwest Housewives Figure Both Days for Doing the Garage Sale

By SHIRLEY CHRISTIAN Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Grandmother's rules of house-keeping said Thursday is for marketing and Friday for dusting and sweeping. But many contemporary wives in the Great Plains and Southwest think both days are for "doing" the garage sales.

A garage sale is a kind of high-class bargain basement, organized by an individual woman or group of friends, where offerings range from sink stoppers to guinea pigs to maternity clothes, all used.

In the suburbs of Kansas City, the station wagon and sports car sets park before $30,000 ranches to examine the offerings of 35-cent baby dresses, 25-cent mixing bowls, $2-picture frames, and other odds and ends.

Mrs. James Hopewell of suburban Fairway, Kan., did the sales regularly for months before and after her first grandchild was born. She told home a nursery full of barely used baby furniture, stroller, swings, toys and basic clothing.

Mrs. Bert Rosebrough of Prairie Village, Kan., another suburb, mentioned to the well-furnished living room in her early American-style home.

"Everything in it," she said, "from the sofa to the maple searings, came from garage sales." It was the same story in her 3-year-old son's room.

Anyone can hold a garage sale—providing she has the fortitude to let go of the things she and her family no longer use.

The sales are announced by ads in neighborhood newspapers and signs planted on nearby streets.

On the big day, the garage is the spot for almost anything, except the family car. The sale is run like a store, not an auction. There is almost no bargaining. If it occurs, it is usually on a relatively expensive item.

Getting buyers is seldom a problem. Few can resist the enticement of pouring through another household's collection of trifles and trivia in hope that it will yield some surprise treasure.

Many women spend Thursday and Fridays, the traditional sale days, driving through the suburbs looking for sales. Sometimes they find several on one block.

Men make fun of their wives' garage sale habits. Once they attend one, though, they usually are bitten, too. The wife of a masculine garage sale fan said many of the articles sold in her sale came from her husband's foragings.

But the enthusiasm occasionally backfires.

One woman with garage sale fever made weekly expeditions and filled her basement with odds and ends of furniture, which she gradually refinished for use in the house. But many objects never made it up the stairs. She finally took stock of her crowded basement, sighed and called the neighborhood paper.

"I want to run an ad for a garage sale," she said.

Conflicting Reports on Guevara Death

By JORGE CANELAS Associated Press Writer

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) - Conflicting reports, rumor and the skepticism of Ernesto Che Guevara's family cast doubt today on the Bolivian army's claim that it had killed the Latin American revolutionary.

Government and army accounts clashed on whether the guerrilla said to be Guevara was buried or cremated, how he met his death and whether he identified himself before dying.

Guevara's brother Roberto arrived from Argentina Thursday to claim the body but after conferring with Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, the commander of the army, he said Ovando told him the body had been cremated.

Wednesday the army said Guevara's body had been buried in a secret place, and coincident with Roberto Guevara's arrival a government source said President Rene Barrientos was "of the opinion that the body should be turned over to the Guevara family."

After Roberto Guevara told newsmen about the cremation, a government spokesman said he knew nothing of it.

Roberto refused to say if he believed the man shot in Bolivia's jungles was his brother, but cousins and nephews in Buenos Aires, said they doubted he was Che.

Radiophotos of the dead man showed a likeness, they said, but not enough to convince them of Guevara's death. One cousin said Che had written his father from Paris.

Further skepticism involved a military communiqué that said Guevara was wounded in a battle with government troops Sunday and died Monday.

School Named for First President of the Hope B&PW Club

By MARY ANITA LASETER Star Feature Writer

The only school in Hope named for a woman, the Beryl Henry Elementary School, was dedicated last weekend. It is fitting that this outstanding woman in the field of education and the business world be saluted at this time, for next week, October 15-21, is National Business Women's Week and Miss Henry was also the first President of the Hope B & PW Club.

She moved to Hope in 1918 from Bentonville. The previous year, 1917, four men were taken from the positions of principal and superintendent at Hope High School into military service. So it was decided to get a man beyond draft age for the job and D. L. Paisley, Superintendent of the North Little Rock Schools (then called Argenta) was hired.

He, in turn, thinking of tenure security, advised the school board to employ a woman as principal. Their choice — Miss Henry.

She and Mr. Paisley worked together until 1930 when he was made purchasing agent for the State Hospital. She, then, assumed his job as superintendent until 1942, when she went to teach at the Jerome Relocation Center for Japanese.

The year after Miss Henry came to Hope, in 1919, the National B & PW Club was organized, but a chapter wasn't begun in Hope until 1924. Miss Henry, a charter member of the club, was elected its first president. She held that position two years, and the club continued actively for 15 years. In 1939 it disbanded for two years, and when it was reorganized, she was again the choice for club president. It's not too many people who can be the first president twice of the same organization, but she was!

Born in south Arkansas in the community of Salem, near Camden, Miss Henry was the youngest of a large family. When her father, who was a doctor, retired, the family moved to Bentonville. Her higher education was received from Randolph - Macon in Lynchburg, Va., Henderson - Brown in Arkadelphia, and George Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. She holds a Master's Degree from the latter.

After World War II when the relocation center was no longer in operation, Miss Henry moved back to Hope and opened a gift shop on South Main. She continued in this enterprise for several years. Since then, she has worked in the state welfare department in Little Rock and for a number of years she was Secretary of the Retired Teachers Association.

Today, she makes her home in Benton, where she is active in the PEO Sisterhood, Delta Kappa Gamma teachers' society, and the Methodist Church. She has taught in the Church School, worked in both the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild, and has held a number of state offices in the women's groups, including that of education chairman.

Miss Beryl Henry symbolizes Nike, the Winged Victory of Samothrace, on the B & PW Club emblem, for it signifies strength, progress, and triumph in advancing woman's place in the world. No wonder that a number of years ago the Hope B & PW Club made Miss Henry an honorary Life member of the club.

No Danger to User of Heart Tablet

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Food and Drug Administration advised heart patients and their physicians today that there is no imminent danger to the user in 30 million tablets of a commonly used anticoagulant ordered off the market Thursday night.

Sixteen packaging lots of the drug Coumadin were banned by the FDA's Brooklyn, N.Y. office because analysis carried out by the federal agency and the manufacturer, Endo Laboratories, Inc., of Garden City, L.I., showed variations from the stated potency.

"The safest course the patient can follow is to continue the medication his doctor has prescribed," FDA Commissioner James L. Goddard said.

Goddard said some news reports indicated use of the off-strength dosage could be an immediate threat to life. But he said this was impossible at the level of variation involved.

"It could be more hazardous to abruptly halt use of the medication," he explained.

But he left in force a recommendation from the Brooklyn office that patients consult their physicians on any question about prescription refilling or continued use of present supplies of the product.

Goddard said the 30 million tablets represent only a small part of the supply of the drug on the market.

Thieu Peace Bid Possibly in November

SAIGON (AP) - President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu said today he will make his peace bid to Ho Chi Minh in mid-November, but "if North Vietnam persists in its aggression then we will continue to defend ourselves."

The chief of state, who will be inaugurated as head of the new constitutional government Oct. 30, spelled out in a talk with Japanese newsmen the details of a letter he expects to send the North Vietnamese president two weeks after he takes office.

Thieu's remarks were distributed by the Vietnam Press, the government news agency. A spokesman had outlined the plan Thursday.

Vietnam Press said Thieu told the newsmen South Vietnam would ask for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam, or de-escalate its military activities in the South "if North Vietnam would display similar good will."

Asked what North Vietnam would have to do to show good will, Thieu replied this would include a halt to infiltration into the South, a stop to aggression in the demilitarized zone "and an acceptance of the basic principles for a first meeting between North and South Vietnam."

Solid Sign of Accord in Ford Strike

DETROIT (AP) - Negotiators for the strikebound Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers union had two new contract proposals on the bargaining table today, the first solid sign of possible accord in three months of talks.

The proposals, one by Ford and a counterproposal by the union, were announced Friday night in terse statements after negotiators emerged from their self-imposed news blackout. Then the two sides withdrew into the blackout again.

Neither side would elaborate about either proposal, but late night talks recessed with bargainers seeming cheerful and as untalkative as at any time since the blackout was imposed at 9 p.m. Tuesday.

New negotiations were set for later today, with UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Ford's top bargainers considering the new situation, although no one would say whether there will be any face-to-face meetings.

The proposals also were the first important movement in negotiations since Sept. 6, when the old three-year contract ended and 160,000 Ford workers began the strike, now fifth longest in auto industry history.

Similar pacts also expired at General Motors and Chrysler, but the UAW named Ford as target for what it hopes will be a pattern-setting agreement and continued to work, without a formal contract, at GM and Chrysler.

Not since Aug. 29, when it made its only other contract proposal, had Ford made a formal offer on anything significant.

Ford's original contract proposal offered an immediate wage increase of 13 cents an hour, plus 2.8 per cent increases in the following two years, plus an additional wage increase to be negotiated for skilled tradesmen.

The average hourly straight time wage in the Auto Industry is $3.41.

The UAW rejected Ford's first contract offer, calling it inadequate.

In its Friday night statement, the UAW said Ford's second proposal represented "some movement and progress" but "does not provide Ford workers and their families the measure of equity to which they are entitled."

Mayor Bans Legals to NLR Times

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)

North Little Rock Mayor W. F. Laman ordered Thursday that the city's legal notices no longer be published in the North Little Rock Times.

Laman said in a letter to the city clerk that the advertising, which had almost exclusively been in the Times, was to appear in the Arkansas Democrat.

Disagreement between Laman and the Times developed several weeks ago when a Times editorial pointed out that the mayor's father, J. N. Laman, had asked to buy a section of land in the Market Plaza Mall area from the North Little Rock Urban Renewal Agency.

Such moves by relatives of public officials are subject to criticism, the editorial said.

Laman said the statements were a cruel thing to do to an elderly man.

Pipeline Driver Dies in Wreck

JONESBORO, La. (AP)

Jerry Lynn Harrell, 27, of El Dorado, Ark., was killed Thursday when his trailer-truck loaded with pipe went out of control on a curve on Louisiana 542 and plunged into a ditch six miles north of here.
